

THE SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES, A POSSIBLE MODEL FOR ROMANIAN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Armenia ANDRONICEANU

Academy of Economic Studies, Calea Serban Voda 22- 24, Bucharest, Romania armenia.androniceanu@man.ase.ro

Abstract

This paper presents some of the results of an ample comparative study on public administration developed by the author. It contains five sections in which the main characteristics of the public administrations models in Finland and Sweden are looked at, a comparative analysis of the two is undertaken, on the basis of which substantial advantages and means of know-how transfer are identified, from the administrative systems of the Scandinavian states into that of Romania

Keywords: public administration, comparative analysis.

REFERENCES

- Androniceanu Armenia, International Public Management, Editura Economică, București, 2000.
- Stănciulescu Gabriela, Androniceanu Armenia, Comparative Systems of European Public Administration, Editura Economică, București, 2001.
- Hardjono, T.W. The European Road to Excellency, DG III, The European Commission, 2003, Promotion of European Quality Policy in Romania, Bruxelles, 2004
- Lang P. The Basis of Management on Public Organisations, Peter Lang Publishing, New York , 2004
- Ziller Jacques Egalite et merite – L acces a la fonction publique dans les Etats de la Communaute Europeenne, Institut Europeen d Administration Publique, Bruylant, Bruxelles, 2003.
- FINLEX (n.d.) Retrived from <http://www.finlex.fi/>
- SWEDEN (n.d.) Retrived from <http://www.sweden.se/templates/cs/>
- G.O.S. (n.d.) Government Offices of Sweden. Retrived from <http://www.sweden.gov.se/>